The Trial Bikes - Hartford 200 VR

The Hartford 200VR is a prime example of a simple motorbike transport vehicle, and there's nothing wrong with that.

This unassuming little motorbike uses a proven four-stroke engine concept, very similar to an old Honda CD200 from the 80s, reaching speeds of around 110 km/h all day long.

You'll notice that this motorbike has a very low fuel consumption, with a full 9-liter tank providing a range of well over 200km.

It features disc brakes front and rear, respectable handling for a retro chassis design, and a very comfortable seat.

Starting at 55€ per Day, or less for long-term rentals.

The Trial Bikes - Hero Dawn 150

The Hero Dawn 150, built in India, is a sturdy and fuel-efficient bike, consuming only about 2 liters of fuel per 100km. Equipped with a tubular chassis of the double cradle frame type, the Hero 150 is a lightweight in every way.

This motorcycle features a wide seat that ensures comfort and an easy riding posture.

Other features include stylish hand grips, well-placed foot pegs, a raised handlebar, and a sculpted fuel tank.

The front of the bike is equipped with hydraulic telescopic shock absorbers, while the rear features a swing arm with a 2-step adjustable hydraulic shock absorber.

The HF Dawn 150cc has a wheelbase of 1235mm and a high ground clearance of 165mm.

The Enduro bikes - KAWASAKI 450 KLXR (2011)

An absolutely fantastic production suspension. The fork handles thick branches like a breeze. The rear shock builds traction like no other. On a really tough rocky and muddy climb where other top riders struggled to move forward, I had to brake hard to catch the curve at the exit.

110€ per Day

The Enduro Bikes - KTM 350 EXCF (2019)

The KTM 350 EXC-F offers a successful overall package that will please 4-stroke fans. The powerful engine impresses with smooth power delivery, although the KTM needs to be kept at high RPMs and the engine can feel a bit rough. In terms of handling, it feels comfortable but slightly nervous, which may initially lack confidence in the machine. However, the brakes are well dosed and reliable.

Price: 180€ per Day

The Enduro Bikes - KTM 450 EXCF (2019)

The KTM 450 EXC-F is the most powerful Enduro bike in the E2 class, fully utilizing the displacement limit. It has been designed with low weight, a robust and well-balanced chassis, and an excellent engine. This high-tech SOHC (Single Overhead Camshaft) engine with a single cylinder and 4-stroke technology is the perfect choice for any rider looking to reach the top. Combined with top-notch agility, based on further improved chassis, the KTM 450 EXC-F will surely continue to challenge the competition for a long time.
